Greetings Family!

Thank you for attending the 37th Annual Conference. The board of directors, our mentees, and I appreciate your participation and continued dedication to the mission, cause, and work of the 100. We especially want to honor the memory and unwavering service of Thomas W. Dortch, Jr., Chairman Emeritus, who was a visionary, philanthropist, mentor, and our friend. His work and his fight continues to inspire us.

On behalf of our organization, I thank all partners and sponsors for your program support that includes education and empowerment workshops that will take place during this conference. The mentoring, education support, health awareness, and economic empowerment that the 100 delivers to hundreds of communities is made possible by corporate, foundation, and community partnerships and their representatives who are joining us this week.

Also, with us this week are members from our Emerging 100 and Collegiate 100 affiliate organizations. Part of securing their futures is to share the wisdom gained from lived experiences. So, as you see them over the next few days, take the time to engage and share your story and some life lessons with them.

As we gather at Caesar’s Palace for another exciting conference, we thank all guests for traveling to Las Vegas. From long-standing members to recent and from members and mentees to friends of the 100 and volunteers, I look forward to spending this time with you. Please dive in fully to this year’s event and experience all that has been planned ---- from health and wellness activities each morning to signature events each day and evening ---- celebrate and enjoy!

Sincerely,

Albert E. Dotson, Jr.

Welcome to Las Vegas!

Thank you for attending the 37th Annual Conference and for supporting the work of the 100. On behalf of all local members of 100 Black Men of Las Vegas, Inc., I welcome you to our city. I am proud to extend my warmest greetings to everyone attending the 2023 conference of 200 Black Men of America. I hope you enjoy your time here and that you have a wonderful experience.

I look forward to engaging with everyone and hearing about the achievements of the mentees. This year’s conference is also going to provide multiple opportunities to pay tribute to the work and support that members, partners, and friends of the 100 have contributed to the organization. As always, this conference will shine a spotlight on 100 chapters and members who deliver the programs that are securing the futures of deserving youth. We will once again get to celebrate youth from across the 100 network, who are bright examples of future leaders.

I am sure you will leave with renewed enthusiasm to take on the work needed in your communities and to support youth. Locally our community outreach and youth programs include insert program names here. We are happy for the opportunity to share our work with this year’s attendees. Also, please join me in congratulating the headquarters staff and the entire event team on another successful conference. Have fun and enjoy!

Sincerely,

Gentry Richardson

FOUR FOR THE FUTURE℠

LEADERSHIP
With a focus on igniting mentors, mentees, and community leaders worldwide, our leadership empowerment programs develop leaders throughout the 100’s Global Network. Preparing and equipping them to address critical issues that specific communities are facing worldwide, Leadership encompasses all of the 100’s Four For The Future programmatic initiatives.

MENTORING
Mentoring provides support and positively impacts the lives of tomorrow’s leaders today. The 100 delivers mentoring training at our annual conferences and regional training workshops, which are open to the public. Both Collegiate 100 chapters and 100 Black Men chapters deliver unique mentoring initiatives that positively impact deserving youth annually.

EDUCATION
Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world. Our goal is to work with parents, families, community partners, and schools to teach African American youth the tools needed to make the world a better place. Through community, foundation, and higher education partnerships doors are opened for our youth to have a better chance to enhance their talents and they receive opportunities to live out their dreams.

HEALTH
The 100’s health and wellness goals are to raise awareness, provide access to health care and give health information that will ultimately promote behavior change resulting in a healthier lifestyle. The 100, through its Health and Wellness Committee, works with other synergistic organizations to develop strategic partnerships to raise a collective voice to help increase awareness and provide health education to mitigate chronic conditions and diseases that plague the African American community.

ECONOMIC EMPOWERMENT
Through comprehensive curricula and training opportunities, our organization works diligently to promote economic self-sufficiency and break the cycle of generational debt. It is the goal of the 100 to leave a legacy of wealth-building, which leads to debt-free living for the youth and communities we serve. Our economic empowerment programs and initiatives foster financial literacy, career development, financial planning, investment management, and fiscal responsibility at an early age. This includes exposing our youth and collegiate students to the skills, strategies, and the mindset of entrepreneurship.
A FUTURE SO BRIGHT, YOU CAN ALMOST TASTE IT

FROM YOUTH DEVELOPMENT TO SKILLS-BASED LEARNING, COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIPS AND MORE, WE ARE PROUD TO SUPPORT EDUCATION BOTH INSIDE AND OUTSIDE THE CLASSROOM. BECAUSE EVERYONE WITH A THIRST TO LEARN SHOULD HAVE THE CHANCE TO PURSUE THEIR DREAMS.

The mission of the 100 Black Men of America, Inc. is to improve the quality of life within our communities and enhance educational and economic opportunities for all African Americans.

The 100 seeks to serve as a beacon of leadership by utilizing our diverse talents to create environments where our children are motivated to achieve and to empower our people to become self-sufficient shareholders in the economic and social fabric of the communities we serve.

100 Black Men of America, Inc. is committed to the intellectual development of youth and the economic empowerment of the African American community based on the following precepts: respect for family, spirituality, justice, and integrity.
The primary objective of the 100 Black Men of America, Inc., Leadership Institute, is to develop strong, capable leaders who are equipped with the necessary tools to carry out the goals of “Four for The Future”, as well as develop the skillset to effectively lead non-profit organizations.

Our goal is to ensure a succession pipeline of competent leaders that are adaptable, inspired and motivated, who can lead and guide others to produce measurable results, and demonstrate high standards of honesty, integrity, trust, transparency and mutual respect.

“The Leadership Institute has been an exciting opportunity to see our members gain valuable knowledge from subject matter experts, collaborate with others, as well as hone their leadership skills that will benefit them in their personal, professional and civic areas of responsibility.”

– Thomas B. Henderson, Co-Chair Leadership Institute

“The objective of the Leadership Institute is simple: To empower our members with exceptional leadership competencies, high emotional and cultural intelligence, and superior competence in leading non-profit and for-profit organizations at the local, national, and international levels, inside and outside of the 100 Black Men organization.”

– Keith Millner, Co-Chair Leadership Institute

The overall concept of “The 100” began in 1963 in New York City when a group of concerned African American men began to meet to explore ways of improving conditions in their community. These visionaries included businessmen and industry leaders such as David Dinkins, Robert Mangum, Dr. William Hayling, Nathaniel Goldston III, Livingston Wingate, Andrew Hatcher, and Jackie Robinson. In 1986, the organization was officially incorporated and 100 Black Men of America, Inc. was born. The vision has materialized to be shared by more than 10,000 members reaching over 125,000 underserved, underrepresented minority youth annually. Throughout our history, the leadership of 100 Black Men of America, Inc. has been impeccable. The men chosen as national leaders all have contributed to the growth and strength of the organization. Their unique contributions have helped The 100 to become one of the premiere mentoring organizations anywhere.

After earlier meetings held in Washington, D.C. (September 21, 1983), Las Vegas (May 11-13, 1984), and Las Vegas (May 16-18, 1986), on October 2, 1986, representatives from 100 Black Men Chapters converged in Washington, DC, at the L’Enfant Plaza Hotel, for a final meeting to establish a national organization. During the earlier meetings, they determined the structure, governance and model that would provide the most effective physical and financial resources to support the communities and Chapters. At the final gathering, the organization’s name – 100 Black Men of America, Inc. – was unveiled and attendees elected four accomplished, professional men from within their ranks to serve as its first and founding officers. Each of the four were selected based on their demonstrated commitment to give back in a holistic way that addressed the educational, social, emotional, and cultural needs of youth in their own communities. Chapters represented were: Los Angeles, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Atlanta and New Jersey. They put their time, talent, and money together and did the hard work necessary to establish a foundation for a network of Chapters in their infancy, which today is an international nonprofit organization that positively impacts more than 125,000 annually youth across the United States and abroad.

Beginning with the New York Chapter in 1963, through today’s global network of chapters, 100 Black Men have continually created unique programs to mentor, educate and empower young people, their families and the communities in which they live. Mentoring leadership includes chapters partnering, sponsoring and chartering elementary, middle and high schools, along with advocating in the areas of impact education, economics and health and wellness.

How Bad Do You Want It?
Investing In Impactful Emerging 100 Chapters
Location: Florentine II, Promenade Level

Overview: Colleges, universities and the local community have reached an opportune time in which young black men and women are yearning for mentors to assist with navigating careers and personal affairs. Additionally, they are looking to join organizations for a sense of belonging, but with leadership or advisement that have intentional goals and objectives. Emerging 100 chapters can provide this sense of community through service, programming, and healthy debates in the community. These chapters are wanted, needed, and impactful when provided efficient oversight. How bad do you desire to Impact the lives of young people on college campuses and in the community? During this workshop, members will have the opportunity to learn and understand the fundamentals of fostering and sustaining a successful Emerging 100 Chapter and how the 100 Black Men can be beneficial in supporting this effort.

3:30 p.m. - 5:00 p.m.  Role of the Collegiate 100® Advisor to the Success of a Collegiate 100 Chapter
Location: Florentine III – Promenade Level

Overview: There is no more important position in the success of a 100 Black Men of America’s Collegiate 100® program than the volunteer chapter or campus advisor who serves as a role model and mentor. There are many benefits to having an advisor. Advisors maintain continuity within the Collegiate chapter from year to year, providing a sense of history, acting as an advocate for our Collegiate members, and they can also provide helpful resources and knowledge. The goal of this session is to share the Collegiate Advisors’ responsibilities, share best practices and discuss the DO’s & DON’T of a Collegiate 100® advisor.

Black Resilience: How to Free Yourself from Toxic Stress
Location: Roman I

Overview: Home, schools, and neighborhoods should be safe, welcoming, and inclusive environments where youth can thrive. Unfortunately, this is not true for many Black students with Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs). The global pandemic, police brutality, the rise of cyberbullying, and parental incarceration, take a toll on the health and well-being of African American students - shaping their lives forever. But there is hope. In this workshop, participants will learn trauma-informed care practices to rescript and overcome toxic stress and build resilience and agency.

Location: Augustus Ballroom
Emcee: Josiah Jackson (C100 FAMU)
Keynote: Joel Phanord (C100 Clark Atlanta)
Sponsors: State Farm, Wabtec

Overview: In this session, we will explore how negative media portrayals of Black men lead to the normalization of violence against them, especially through police brutality. Panelists from media, law enforcement, government, entertainment, and Corporate America will analyze examples of negative media portrayals, such as the “thug” or “gangster” image, examine how they contribute to systemic racism and oppression, and discuss the harmful effects of these stereotypes and ways to challenge and dismantle them. Participants will walk away with practical steps they can take to help advocate for accurate and positive representations of Black men in media and society.

2:30 p.m. - 4:00 p.m. Beauty Shop Forum:
What Momma Couldn’t Tell You About Being a Fully Expressed Woman
Location: Emperor I

Overview: This provocative conversation will challenge its participants to explore the roots of their beliefs about self-love, body image, intimacy, and sex, which they likely adopted from their foremothers. Since mere survival was likely at the forefront of our ancestors’ minds due to the violence of slavery, their pleasure was likely placed on the back burner, leading to generations of Black women becoming disembodied from their feelings. This practice has grave consequences on one’s mental, physical, emotional, social, and sexual well-being. Participants will walk away understanding how becoming a Fully Expressed Woman can offer emotional liberation and pave the way for orgasmic living, vitality, and a fulfilling relationship with self, others, and life.

Relationships 101: Recognizing the Signs of Healthy and Unhealthy Behavior
Location: Roman I

Overview: We spend about sixteen years preparing for a career, but how often do we spend time preparing for a healthy relationship? High school students are new to the world of love and relationships. After their first experience, students tend to focus on what constitutes an “unhealthy relationship,” without offsetting it with what a “healthy relationship” entails. Healthy relationships consist of mutual respect, trust, support, honesty, accepting responsibility, valuing opinions, and communicating openly and fairly. This workshop will offer proven techniques and tips on maintaining healthy platonic and romantic relationships.
